SAN FRANCISCO, October 18 .- An Astoria dispatch says it was hoped that the British ship Ferrylen, which went ashore at Clatsop Spit, Sunday morning, would be got off without much trouble. A lifeboat from Fort Conly station boarded her the same day. The weather was then calm and the pros pects good for driving the ship over the spit into the channel. The captain declined to abandon the ship. Yesterday a heavy southeast gale drove the ship further up. The captain set a signal of distress, which was seen by the stamper General Control to the stamper General Contro steamer General Canby on her way toria. As soon as the news reached here, a party consisting of several ship-masters, re turned on the Canby with the ship's life-buoy to render assistance, but the heavy gale and sea made it impossible for a boat or any thing else reach her. The ship was then up right, with sails set to drive her over the spit. The Camby has just returned with news gone and the crew clinging to her sides. The Canby is now leaving with another lifeboat and volunteers, who will take off the crew if possible. Captain Harris, of the station lifeboat, has made two unsuccessful attempts to-day to reach her. The wind has moderated and the sea has gone down some. It is hoped that another attempt will be successful.
